

John 'Burns' up the Alamo

John B made a quick foray up the right wing with Return to the Alamo and The Miracle with Mike on chords, Des and David exchanging passes on the bass.

Yes, it really is a Strat!

Jim B surged into the box but then decided to Sleepwalk, a bit like the Netherlands defence, though he did throw in some nice touches and harmonics which he picked up by watching Hank on the Strat Pack DVD. Jim's final tune of the day was Spring Is Nearly Here – well summer it sure ain't! Jim T and Terry provided the accompaniment.

Jim T then swapped wings and went for a Mexican wave as he played a one-two with Gonzales before moving South of the Border. David had taken over on bass with Jim B on strums.

Is Jim B really that tall?

The final 'act' of the day saw Phil saying 'Nuts' to Brazil, giving up on the aforementioned little samba number after three attempts were blocked on the goal line. He finished in injury time with The Stranger and Theme for Something Important, tiredness obviously taking its toll as he ended the latter on an E major chord while the rest of the band i.e. Des and George, correctly played the A major!

Many thanks as usual to Maggie and Andrea for supplying copious quantities of sarnies and the Prof's favourite: delicious wheaten and cheese – yum yum!.

The Prof would like to say a special thanks to Hall on sticks and to 'quiet man' Chris J who not only provided excellent support on keys but also supplied him with the funniest comments which have been ruthlessly plagiarised for this little document.
